Career-Related Experience

Executive Director

September 2014 – Current

- Direct the Evolution of Design project that bring emerging WVU professionals together across multiple creative disciplines.
- Created a collaboration between five colleges and two divisions within the university system.
- Provide a platform for developing/emergent professionals to display their career talents;
- Provide an opportunity for students to work collaboratively across multiple creative disciplines;
- Gave students a holistic academic experience

Community Developer

September 2014 – Current

- Work with local schools to develop partnerships with local business and College of Education and Human Services, and West Virginia University.
- Organized the Holiday Haircuts, where local barbers and hair stylist came into the elementary school before the Christmas holiday to give boys and girls free haircuts or styling.
- Organized the WVU Read Aloud for over six hundred elementary students - this was a partnership with university college student volunteers from five different colleges across the university.

Shared Student Leadership Academy (Director)

September 2014 – Current

West Virginia University and Monongalia County Schools

The goal is to pair fourth through twelfth grade students with college students across the West Virginia University in a two-day leadership development workshop. Through this workshop, the public school students will identify school-based enrichment projects. The college students would mentor the public school students through the implementation of the projects and then visit with their mentees at least six times (twice a month) during the semester.

Mountaineer Leadership Academy

October 2013 – May 2014

Emerging Leaders Institute

The Emerging Leaders Institute assists employees who want to enhance leadership skills by developing cooperative partnerships to develop a team that will create solutions to advance WVU's mission. Developing a plan that results in delivering agreed upon outcomes with others uses multiple skills. There are many questions to consider as teams develop project plans, manage those plans, and create deliverables. This program offers teams an opportunity to consider possible risks and processes that will enhance effectiveness.

Student Organization AdvisorFall 2006 – May 2008Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.
West Virginia University

Advised college men in the operation and yearly budgeting of their organization. I helped in the strategic planning of the fundraising campaign for the 2007 – 2008 school year that benefited leadership development for local high school males as well as members of the organization.

Site CoordinatorSummers of 2004, 2005, and 2006Health Sciences & Technology Academy
Robert C. Byrd Health Sciences Center
West Virginia University

- Managed the day to day operation of a summer camp for high school students while at West Virginia University for three weeks.
- Supervised councilors and field site coordinators during the summer camp.

Founder and DirectorSummers of 1999, 2000, and 2001Summer Variety Camp
Mt. Olivet Baptist Church
Richmond, VA 23223

I developed an initial program that exposed students in grades K-8 to remedial work in the Virginia Standards of Learning (SOL). I provided pre- and post-assessment to parent(s) at the end of the camp for the child's teacher. This program included subjects such as mathematics, language arts, social studies, and science. The program also offered enrichment activities such as modern dance, technology, drama, and sporting activities.

Founder and Program CoordinatorApril 1997 – September 1999Rites of Passage Program
Mt. Olivet Baptist Church
Richmond, VA 23223

Developed an initial six month program that would transform young African American males ages 8 through 16 from boyhood into manhood. The program included topics like The Community around You, Spiritual Foundation, The Other Side of Agriculture, Entrepreneurship the Real Deal, Conflict Resolution and Cosmic Awareness Training of Oneself.
